pproved For Release 2004/09/03: CIA-RDP88-91314R009300240025-0 Webb, 4 Uthers

Missing After Cambodia Battle

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia, April 8 [UPI]-"Kate" Webb, United Press International bureau manager in Phrom Penh, and four other persons were listed today as missing after Communist forces overran Cambodian troops yesterday. The action occurred on Highway 4 about 56 miles southwest of Phnom Penh.

Cambodian paratreopers moved up to within 500 yards of the area today, but there was no word of Miss Webb or of another correspondent and three assistants. No fighting . was reported teday.

Other Missing Listed

The others missing are Toshiihi Suzuhi of the Japanese newsreel agency Nihon Denpa News; Chhim Sarath, a UPI translator-driver; Tea Kim Hieng, a Cambedian freelance photographer and Suzuki's interpreter. Several other correspondents escaped.

The five disappeared yesterday shortly after troops identified as North Vietnamese regulars attacked and inflicted heavy cosmulties on a unit of Cambodian soldiers. This eccurred just below the Pich Nil Pass on the highway, which links Phnom Penh to the seaport of Kompong Som.

Military sources said about 120 wounded Cambodian soldiers where returned to Phuom Peah from the Pich Nil front. About 100 soldiers were listed as missing.

Some Escape

eluded Robbin Mannock of the Associated Press and Ly Eng, of about 500 yards. He said he, publisher of the Phnom Penh recognized her from the blue newspoper. Khmer Ekareah.

Mannock was wounded in the mortar and automatic weapons assault. He said he last saw his colleagues about 1:15 p. m. yesterday. He quoted Miso Webb as saying: "I'm just going up to have a look, and then I'm going back to Phnom Penh." Manneek said Miss Webb moved; forward several hundred yards before the Communists opened

Mannock returned to Phnom

enh shortly after noon today

Catherine [Kate], Webb

munisis who attacked yeaterday struck first with a barrage road and cent the [Cambodian] 1987. units to bits." . v ...

Believes Prisoners Sought

Mannock was struck by mortar shraphel in the face and legs. He said it appeared that the North Vietnamese troops were trying to take as many prisoners as possible, using bullhorns as they advanced to urge the Cambodians to surrender.

Ly Eng, the Cambodian pub-Several other correspondents lisher, said he saw Miss Webb escaped the assault. They in minutes before the Communist barrage began from a distance shirt she had been wearing. Eng said he saw Miss Webb leave the road and walk about 10 yards into a field shortly before the firing started. He said he believed she was trying to reach a Cambodian officer with his troops in the field.

Nine foreign correspondents have been killed in covering the war in the last year. They include Miss Webb's predecessor as UPI Phnem Penh bureau manager, Frank Fresch, and UPI prize winning photographer Kyolchi Sawada. Seventeen others have been listed as missing.

Veteran Indochina Reporter

Miss Webb succeeded Fresch as Phaom Penh burcau manager last February. She has covered news in this area of the world for most of her adult life. Her byline had appeared repeatedly in The Taibung.

in a convoy of military vehicles. He said the Communists who attacked vestors with a bachelou's degree in philosophy. She was a reporter of more than 10) mortar shells for the Sydney Daily Mirror and then "charged across the before joining UPI in Saigon in

ੀਾਂ⊂ Approved ਜਰਮ Release 2004/09/03 : CIA-RDP88-01314R000300240025-0